Colorado’s New and Improved Notable Tree Calendar for 2008 Available for Order!

COLORADO – The Colorado Tree Coalition presents its 2008 Colorado Notable Tree Calendar. This full size, colorful calendar displays professional photographs of some of the state’s most spectacular trees, and now it’s even better than before. A diverse array of tree species has been especially selected to represent each month of the year. A notable tree is one that is significant in some way whether it is the largest of its species or has an historical anecdote. These trees have more than just aesthetic value.

Education is an important component to the Colorado Notable Tree Calendar so included are new tree care facts and reminders, with drought, xeriscape, and the landscape highlighted. The large size and improved quality also make this calendar perfect for keeping track of everyone’s schedule.

Notable tree calendars are excellent gifts for family, friends, co-workers, or employees. They also can be sold in stores or used as a fundraiser. Prices vary depending on order size; however this calendar has a retail value of $9.95.

Contributions from the Colorado State Forest Service, USDA Forest Service, Xcel Energy, Denver Water, the International Society of Arboriculture-Rocky Mountain Chapter, Eagle Crest Nursery, Fort Collins Wholesale Nursery, Mountain High Tree, Lawn and Landscape, Alameda Wholesale Nursery, Palisade Greenhouse, City of Lone Tree, Garden of the Gods Visitor and Nature Center, and the Lower Arkansas Valley Water Conservation District allow the Colorado Tree Coalition to produce this unique, new calendar.
